Tired of the city commute – but want a role that will continue to develop your skills and enhance your career opportunities? Read on...

This large business manufactures consumer material for a number of New Zealand's most recognised brands. As a leader in their field, my client is looking to continue to add value and improve operational efficiencies and this is where you come into it.

This is a broad role with management accounting, project work and a small amount of financial accounting responsibilities. Advanced spread sheeting and use of BI tools are key skills so you must be confident of your knowledge and abilities and be able to demonstrate your previous experience. Your planning and organisational skills will be fully utilised so must be top notch too. You will also be able to demonstrate strong analytical skills and display the willingness to take ownership and accountability for your work.

This role provides key support to the GM of Finance and also backup support to other Accountants in the business from time to time. You will be working in a shared services environment where the culture is fairly relaxed and balanced – and people work hard and have fun at the same time.

You are most likely to be working in a large business at the moment in a similar role and you are now looking to gain some further experience where you can build depth in your knowledge and maybe work closer to home.

You will be degree qualified and have at least 3 years practical post qualification experience. You will be CA or equivalent, or as a minimum be close to completing. As with this level of role, your communication and interpersonal skills will be well developed and you are confident and comfortable interacting with all levels of staff.

If you are looking for that role closer to home, then act now, there are not too many of these roles that come up. Please apply online or call me – Tracey Diamond on 021 245 0179 to have an initial discussion.
