Technical Consultant - CRM

My client is a relatively new NZ company who has had remarkable growth in their specialist field. Due to that growth an exciting position has arisen for an experienced CRM consultant.

We are ideally looking for a business focused CRM specialist who has both a technical understanding and more importantly a real focus on how CRM impacts from the business level. You will have the ability and experience to work alongside and partner senior managers in some of NZ's largest corporates.

Specifically you will have had over 5 years experience successfully deploying all aspects of CRM solutions within large businesses, ideally your experience will be with the larger CRM applications such as SAP, Siebel or Salesforce.

My client offers you an autonomous role within a growing company who has a flat management structure giving you a true sense of ownership. You will also have the opportunity to work with some of NZ's best brands and really stamp your mark and display your worth.
